Final harvest... or is it?

With most of the 1987 harvest already in the bins, many Canadian farmers are facing the fact that this could be their final harvest.

The growing despair of the agricultural community is reflected by an Angus Reid-Southam news survey which indicates that one-third of Canadian farmers feel they will be out of business before 1990, unless economic conditions improve substantially. Only 13 per cent of western farmers expect to make money this year, with 30 per cent predicting a loss and the balance hoping to break even.

Low grain prices caused by the U.S.-European grain trade war are being blamed for the terminal debt confronting 1,900 Alberta farmers, while another 6,600 are experiencing severe debt servicing problems, a review of the farm lending scene reveals.

Are things really this bad?

The Farm Credit Corporation has approximately 150 foreclosure actions underway in Alberta at the present time, but Roger Evert of FCC's Edmonton office says that 50 of these were in progress before the 18 month moratorium went on. He finds that the problem is general across the province, with no particular area showing a high concentration of foreclosures in relation to the rest.

Evert believes that the statistics revealed by the survey show the "worst possible scenario" and does not expect such a large percentage to leave the farm, although many may have to reduce the size of their operations or take off-farm jobs.

FCC's St. Paul representative Normand Therrien is keeping an optimistic viewpoint, and says "there has to be a turnaround" in economic prospects in the near future. He and the Corporation are "trying to think positive" and encouraging farmers to believe that "out of every crisis, an opportunity can arise". Therrien says the FCC "wants to take a problem-solving approach" to their clients' difficulties.

Bankers in the St. Paul and Elk Point areas are also remaining hopeful. Frank Mayner of Elk Point's Toronto Dominion Bank attributes the fact that this is a mixed farming area to keeping his customers out of serious financial difficulty. He says that the present livestock prices will help to keep local farmers afloat until grain prices improve. "I've got to be optimistic ... but we do have to face reality," he concluded.

Jim Penz of the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce in St. Paul said the farm crisis "has not really affected us at all. Things are about the same as a year ago". The Commerce has not been forced to repossess any machinery or livestock to date, and "there are non coming up that I know of".

Caise Populaire Credit Union Administration Manager Ron Boisvert echoed Penz's statements, and said today's farmers "are professionals ... and have to manage money accordingly". He "does not foresee a major crisis, with us, anyway."

Gordon LeDrew of Elk Point's Treasury Branch concedes that it is "no doubt grim for a lot of farmers" but, fortunately, his clientele "has not been in trouble". Those who weather the crisis, he added, will be those "who are the better managers". LeDrew says that all the banks "are trying to work with the farmers and help them all we can."

District Agriculturalist Terry Holmgren says substantial drops in fertilizer and chemical sales indicate farmers are cutting back all they can on input costs. "You could count on one hand all the new combines sold in this area this year", he continued, adding farmers tend to be spending any disposable cash on smaller farm items rather than the "high ticket" equipment.

Equity being lost and operational expenses eating into capital are seen by Holmgren as major problems. Some livestock producers are going under now "as a carryover of the high interest rates – 18 and 20 per cent" of the early 1980's, he said, although good livestock prices at the present time are helping to counteract the low grain prices.

What Holmgren feels is most distressing is that the present difficulties are concentrated on those farmers who began their operations in the last 10 years, and those who underwent expansion in that period.

"It's tough to see those guys go," he said.

WATER UNDER THE BRIDGE -- FINALLY — A peaceful autumn scene is reflected in the freshly dredged outlet of Hook Lake, 4 miles west of Elk Point. Water is once again flowing in Atimoswe Creek, and is being pumped into the Elk Point reservoir ready for winter use.

New deadlines

Effective immediately, the Lakeland Review's deadline for receiving news and advertising copy, including classified ads, has been advanced to 10:00 a.m. MONDAYS.

All material received after that time will be held over until the next week's issue.

The lone exception to this deadline will be Town of Elk Point Council meetings, coverage of which will be carried in the current week's issue.

We hope that the new deadline will streamline production and enable us to serve our readers better.

Mural watch--thanks to many contributors

So many people have been through these doors since the first sketch went on the first panel on July 24, and still more new people come in each day. This encouragement and moral support is what is keeping me going. Many people and organizations have also contributed financially and by loaning me many useful items. Although they will receive formal recognition some time in the future, I'm going to list them here, now and update the list in later columns. Thanks to all of you for your support.

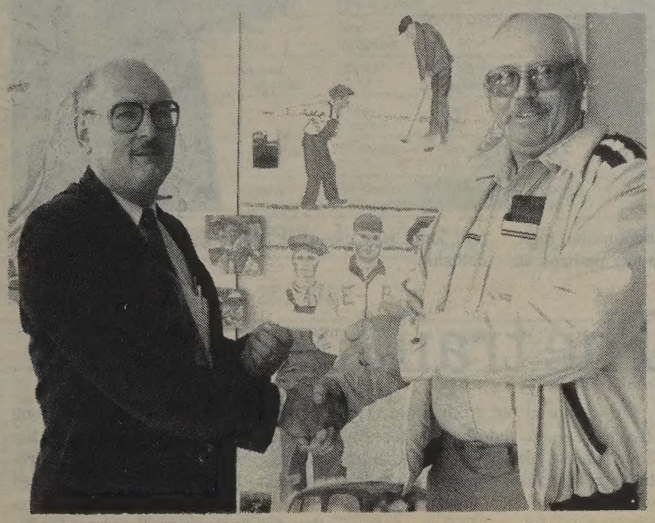
People, groups, organizations and institutions who have donated to the mural: Elk Point Gas & Berjim Enterprises (studio space), Elk Point Treasury Branch, Amoco, Dome, Elk Point Farmers Market, Lakeland Theatre Company, Roger Mayner, Irene Magnusson, Bill McCaffery, Canada Day Committee. John Tilton, Val Dale, Vicki Brooker, Klaus Gessert, Jean Charleton, Capital Drugs (Elk Point), Phil's Hardware; Yewchin's Funeral Chapel, Micheal Dawe, James & Lynn Roe, St. Paul & District Co-op, Dr. B.C. Kleeburger, Shamrock Valley Enterprises Ltd., E-Can Oilfield Services, Joe Brunner, Sherry Pelech, Bill & Barb Milholland, Ronnie Barwick, George & Irene Jacobson, Westmin Resources.

And yes, I am using actual photographs for each panel. The original sketches for the panels use 3 or 4 old photographs as the foundation for the design but once a panel is sketched and people bring in more photographs and ideas, the result is as many as 15 photos contributing to each panel.

From these old photographs something unique and exciting is happening. Many old photos show scenes and stances that are useful but the faces are blurred and indistinct so in order to invigorate them, I am taking photographs of present residents of Elk Point.

There is some lovely poetic justice in this, using 1987 residents to bring life to the past.

Come and see our display at Information Night, tonight.



WESTMIN RESOURCES CONTRIBUTES TO MURAL FUND — Frank Mayner accepts a $100 cheque from Gordon McCuaig.

Your youngsters can discover a multitude of educational and recreational outlets from gymnastics to Girl Guides, from playschool to 4-H, while you can explore interests ranging from oil painting to Oilettes, from aerobics to area history.

We have a vital and energetic town, with creative and recreational outlets of many kinds to be enjoyed. come out tonight and see what Elk Point has for you!

Autumn, already

Today marks the first day of Autumn, Where has the summer gone?

It seems only days since the hurried weeks of 4-H achievement days and graduations.

Summer was by in a flash, and some of us never did get around to that trip to the lake, to playing golf, to taking a long walk in the woods, or just lazing in the sun.

The weatherman says we have more sunny days in store. Maybe, just maybe, we will have time for these activities yet. And maybe we should take that time, with nary a feeling of guilt. Don't we deserve it? You bet we do!

Letter to the editor

Dear Ms. Brooker:

Please excuse the 'Ms.' but being a thoroughly indoctrinated and well-heeled U.S. government bureaucrat, I follow my Secretary of Labor's orders - and when in doubt as to Miss, Mrs. or Ms., 'Ms.' it 'tis.

In any event, this is supposed to be a thank you letter from me to express my thanks and admiration for the superbly condensed yet comprehensive front page article about the reunion on or in the 8/19 issue of the Review. Being in the midst of preparing a full-scale report of all the activities and festivities, and about to be drowned in an abundance of materials and photos - I am extremely amazed at your ability to squish it all down into that size of an article as appeared on 8/19.

I also was pleased you gave my mother "top billing" so to speak. Her husband is very impressed and has been showing their copy of the article to all his buddies at the American Legion Post in Alhambra and many others in Pasadena and East Los Angeles.

You also took a very good, well composed, photo of all the "Ludwigs" with my little instamatic. I also got a good one of you at the original log cabin site - and as soon as the reprints get back I will forward you a copy.

I was wondering how much a subscription to the Review costs - the cost does not appear in the editor's box of the 3/25/87 issue I have. Second class mail would be fine. It takes 7 to 12 days for mail to get from Elk Point to Wash., D.C., so a few extra days won't really result in too untimely 'out-of-date' delays.

Thank you again for giving the Ludwig Reunion such fine coverage, and also for your personal 'moral' support.

Sincerely
Larry G. Ludwig

COMING UP THE RIVER — We encountered high, fast water, full of driftwood. This huge log, perhaps 40 feet long, was close, as Mel maneuvered to avoid a collision.

— I. Magnusson

Alberta Trails

The trail homeward

At last, the boat is loaded, and up in the repair shop yard. Mel finds a long piece of metal tape wrapped tightly around the propeller shaft — small wonder the thing heated up! So now we are back to two motors, and facing the trip home. But first, one more excursion. While Mel is re-launching, gassing up and doing other necessary maintenance jobs, Aline and I took one last walk along the beach, turned up the rocky hill, and climbed all the way to the tall TV tower, about a mile trip, mostly up and down. The view from above, of the harbor, the town and the islands out on the horizon, is something to remember — and I will.

Mel said he needed a bit more time, so Aline went off for some last minute shopping, and I went down to the pier, and looked again at the massive rocks of the breakwater, and the barges there, the oil tanks by the road, and all the wildflowers along the trail.

At last we were ready to leave, and it was with the thought that I will probably never see it again sending a bit of a shaft through me. I had become attached to those red hills.

We zoomed along, both motors doing their bit, and came to Big Island, searching out the sandy beach bay, "- with better sand, better beach than Hawaii!" just as we had been told. A giant semi-circle of glistening pale sand, topped by rows of evergreens, dotted with bare-bones driftwood, water calm and blue, the long arms of land sheltering us from the winds. One small boat in the distance was the only sign of human existence as far as we could see.

We moved slowly in, as close to shore as we could, then when we were grounded in the sand, we walked the rest of the way, with our supper hamper, to explore, and later to eat.

The sand bank rose sharply, to a ridge, and the spruce and birch. Then, as sharply, it sank away before us, to hidden parks and swamp below. There were pincherry bushes here, red with fruit, and cranberries underfoot. Looking back down toward the bay, the water appeared as though coated with silver. Out beyond were forming dark blue clouds, somewhat ominously, but the sun was still touching the trees.

Soon we went down and made our supper ready, sitting on a drift log, our feet in the white sand. It was a dream place, a remember-forever place, a place filled with utter beauty.

We anchored out from shore, and slept in gentle comfort, after the storm threat blew itself out, with little rain, and a fiery sunset across the waves. Our last day, our last night, on the lake.

In the morning, Mel, still not finding the motor working to his complete satisfaction, did a bit more work on it — found a loose wire, repaired it, and we were on our way, out of the bay, around Big Island, and across the lake to find the marker for Big Point Channel, our route back up the river to Ft. McMurray.

Dozens of water birds wheeled and darted as we neared the mouth of the river, this being their summer grounds. Entering the stream, we found the water much smoother, and we made very good time, passing the mouths of other channels. Again, we are watching the charts, looking for landmarks, and the navigation markers. The water seems muddier than when we came down.

I dropped off to sleep for a bit, when I awoke it was to see the river racing down, with trees, stumps, logs and debris of all sorts tearing by. The current was faster, Mel had to steer the boat this way and that to avoid the logs, etc., and the calm waters of early day became a raging, frothy torrent. Clumps of willows, washed loose from some shore or island, swirled by. A few of these got caught in our props, and Mel had to stop, reverse and/or raise the props, to kick the debris free. Of course, we lost time and ground, and used a lot of extra gas. Several times we lost sight of the markers, and were 'on our own' — trying to guess where the main channel ran.

Late in the afternoon, we saw a narrow channel between two islands, and entered and anchored there. Mel was exhausted from his efforts, and a thunderstorm, was brewing, so we lunched and rested for a couple of hours.

The gas tanks were near empty. Having passed a cabin with a boat below awhile back, we decided to go there for help. They saw us coming, made a fire and put the coffee pot on for us. Again — small world! When we mentioned we were from Elk Point, the man said "Oh, I was born there. Dr. Weigerink was my doctor." And they saved our bacon, with a few cans of gas, an invitation to supper and a visit.

We tied up to their pier, and spent the night. A giant full orange moon blinked briefly at us between the clouds, now racing off. In the morning John and Yvonne Grant offered coffee again, and we followed them as they left in their smallish boat for Ft. McMurray, where they live. They spend the odd weekend there, sometimes working on a beautiful new log house, now only partly finished. John also hunts and traps from that cabin in winter.

The water was very high, so we had no trouble going around, and we managed to get to Ft. McKay, where a couple of boys on bikes escorted Mel to the gas supply. The high waters here had pulled their pier loose, and it floated some distance from shore, but no one seemed excited about it. Maybe there was an anchor or tie under the water. The suds-flecked river looked like grey soup.

We were on our way in less than an hour, passing under the bridge and between the high banks, striped with dark tarsands. Soon we saw Syncrude (or Suncor) and the piles of sand, and almost before we knew it, we were entering the clear, navy blue waters of the Clearwater River, and on into the Snye, and the pier of Ft. McMurray.

Arriving at about 3:15 p.m., we were loaded and on our way by 4 p.m. We filled the truck with gas, and had supper at the Mariana Lakes Stopping place, then off and flying on the long road to home. My map says its 428 kms from Ft. McMurray to St. Paul, which works out to around 265 miles, add another 20 - so 285 miles, with Mel's old truck and that heavy boat behind ... We got in about 11 p.m. with a few stops for gas and food.

We were all somewhat thrilled to see "real farm land" again, after so many days of bush, rocks and water. We sang for about 50 miles, and so a good ending to a really enjoyable holiday.

Olympic Torch Relay

Commemorative Jacket

Share the Spirit

The Olympic Torch Relay Commemorative Jacket was created exclusively for the people of Alberta, to mark the arrival of the Olympic Torch in our province and the opening of the XV Winter Games.

This Sun Ice jacket is available only to Alberta Petro-Canada and Gulf customers – for a limited time at a very special price. Each jacket is beautifully crafted in the Sun Ice tradition, highlighted by a gold embroidered Olympic Torch Relay Symbol against a royal blue background. Practical and stylish, jackets are fully washable, non-allergenic and lightweight; insulated to provide all-weather warmth and comfort. You'll wear it season after season – your own distinctive memento of a glorious event in our history.

The Collector Card Booklet — watch the mail for it!

Starting on September 22, the Commemorative Jacket booklet will be sent to every home in Alberta. You'll get all the details on ordering, plus a Collector Card. Have the Collector Card stamped at your local participating Petro-Canada or Gulf station every time you fill up with a minimum of 25 litres of motor fuel, for a $15 discount off the suggested retail price of $190. With all six stamps, you can order your jacket for only $100. If you don't receive a booklet, pick one up at your local service station. Then take advantage of an offer you'll never forget.

Share the flame

For every jacket purchased, Petro-Canada will contribute 35 cents per stamp on your behalf to the Olympic Torch Relay Legacy Fund in support of Canada's amateur athletes and future Olympians.

$100*

* Price with all six Collector Card Stamps. Purchase price with no validated purchases of motor fuel: $190.

Local job creation projects

St. Paul is the recipient of federal funding totalling $84,722 from Employment and Immigration Canada that has 26 of the community's unemployment insurance (UI) recipients active in two separate UI Job Creation projects.

One project will enable both unskilled and semi-skilled labourers, as well as carpenters, to receive enhanced UI benefits while maintaining or upgrading their working abilities for 14 workers in the field of construction. The project has been allotted $43,414 from federal funds and will provide St. Paul and district residents and their visitors/tourists with better, family-oriented, outdoor recreational facilities for all ages and all seasons at Le Parc Jean-Louis Lagasse Park.

Another project offers 12 jobless workers the opportunity to improve their clerical/business skills, learn office management techniques, and to receive computer training, which is increasingly being demanded in today's labour market. Employment and Immigration Canada have approved $41,308 for this project which is being organized and offered by Lakeland College.

Funding is available for programs such as these, where both the community and jobless works benefit from the building of a new facility or becoming better trained competitors in the workforce. Further information is available from your local Canada Employment Centre.

The UI Job Creation Program provides assistance to help Alberta business and organizations embark on future plans to better their community facilities or worksites.

Area couple celebrates 25th

By Irene Magnusson

The 25th Wedding Anniversary of Don and Vicki Brooker, observed last week at a party in their honor, brought many friends and family members together in the Armistice Community Hall. September 5 was the evening chosen by the Brooker off-spring as most suitable for the occasion.

Looking more like a new bride, than a 25-year veteran, Vicki was svelte and lovely in white sheer with lace/embroidery inserts and a turquoise corsage. The turquoise was continued throughout the hall, with napkins, streamers and table arrangements, vivid against the white background. A handsome white guestbook was signed with a turquoise-plumed pen, and a towering three-tiered cake carried out the theme. Credit was given to daughter Donna for the elegant decor.

Don, a bit more hefty than in the original wedding photo, still looked very handsome - and quite able to carry out what was required when guests persistently drummed on the table.

Master of Ceremonies was Don's cousin, Jack Newton, who with his wife Jeannette, drove in from Langdon, AB., repeating the task of 25 years ago. Blessings were asked by Rev. Bill Jackson, Don's uncle, of Goodfish Lake. Guests were welcomed from Calgary, Rocky Mountain House, Red Deer, Clive, Castor, Mallaig, Goodfish Lake, Myrnam, Marwayne - all in Alberta and Bradwell, Sask., and Pullman, Washington, U.S.A. And of course, Elk Point and St. Paul.

Guests were welcomed at the door by Donna, and offered the quill to sign it with. A huge floral arrangement adorned the table, where a pile of gifts grew higher. Overhead turquoise and white bells and streamers encouraged the festive air. A sumptuous banquet was served in buffet, prepared by friends and neighbors of the popular couple.

Special guests included Bill Ference, County Councillor, and his wife Ivy. Bill presented the couple with an engraved plaque, and a few choice words of congratulations. MLA for St. Paul, John Drobot, was on hand, together with his wife Gladys, to present scrolls from government dignitaries, words of congratulations and a lovely poem on the passing years, delivered with grace and humor.

M.C. Jack Newton kept the guests in a good mood with a series of stories and anecdotes, many bearing on the institution of marriage, weddings and the star couple. Following the banquet, music was made, and the happy couple lead the dancing.

Don Brooker farms in the Atimoswe Creek (Dogrump) Valley and Vicki is the manager-editor/reporter and chief-go-for of the Elk Point Lakeland Review - all of which she handles admirably - as well as the mothering of their five children: Marge (Mrs. Roch Gascon), Donna, John, Melvin and Murray. The couple have one grandson, Christopher.

We all know the first 25 years is the hardest, so the next 25 should be a breeze. Congratulations are offered and all good wishes for the coming years together.

Recreation and Cultural Board resumes after long recess

After a long recess, the Elk Point Recreation and Cultural Board had its first organizational meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 16, with some new faces. Councillor Marshall Kachmar was appointed chairman, with newly appointed board member Lawrence Pidluzny sitting-in as vice-chairman. Another new member, Bev Bespalko, was appointed as board secretary. Councillors Alvina Schuhmacher and Allan Frankiw, Mayor Byron Mann, and board member Bruce Kleeburger were also present at the first meeting. Town Administrator Pat Vincent acted as the board's Recreation and Culture consultant. A new board member, Holly Burton, was absent.

Much of the time was used to inform the new members of the operations of the board, bylaws of the board, administration and policy guidelines and municipal budgets with which the members must familiarize themselves before decisions could be made on various issues.

It was decided that Recreation and Cultural Board meetings would be held on the first Wednesday of every month in the Council chambers of the Elk Point Town Office beginning at 7:00 p.m.

The Recreation and Cultural Board will be a part of the Community Information Evening to be held on September 23, at the FCSS Building with Councillor Marshall Kachmar and board member Bruce Kleeburger representing the Board.

The Board is looking at sending a representative to the Energize '88 provincial workshop which is this year being held in Edmonton. The workshop provides much information in different fields of recreation along with expanding the recreational philosophy. Councillors Marshall Kachmar and Alvina Schuhmacher represented Elk Point at last year's workshop which was held in Red Deer. They felt that the workshop was a bundle of information.

The 1987 CRC - Community Recreation/Cultural Grant - grant has been received with a total of $20,624.00 to be disbursed throughout the various operations, with amounts as follows: Pioneer Circle - $4500, Historical Society $5000, Library - $1000, 58th Avenue Playground - $2000, Minor Ball Assoc. - $812, Parent Nursery Playground - $875, Rec. Board Operational Support - $6437.

The 1987 per capita allotment was $16.00, with 1988 and 1989 being decreased to $12.00 per capita, and closing the remaining two years, 1990 and 1991 at $10.00 per capita.

Highlights of the monthly meetings will be published on a regular basis. The next meeting of the Board will take place on Wednesday, October 7, at the town office.

Oilettes news

We would like to invite all interested ladies of the oilfield to join us for supper October 1, 1987 by phoning Jackie for reservations and details at 724-3906. Guest speakers will be in attendance.

Dewberry News

By Phyllis Ewen

DEWBERRY - Ken and Molly MacLean have just returned after enjoying a two and a half month trip across Canada in their van. The weather co-operated just right, but they needed rain very badly in the Maritimes and in the North Eastern States. The campsites were great for travellers' needs and many interesting people were met there along the way. They visited with Peter McRobert near North Bay, Ontario, who was from Hazeldine originally, as well as Nick and Dorothy Romanick at Norwich, Ontario, who said to say "hello" to all. They also visited relatives in Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario and in New Brunswick. Molly's mother had come from St. Joseph Island, a few miles from the Sault and Ken's dad had come from Chatham, New Brunswick. They toured the larger cities in Canada and enjoyed Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and New foundland very much. They made their way home through the northern United States. The trip proved very enlightening and makes them very proud and happy to be Albertans.

The Greenlawn Gospel Church held a pot luck dinner after their service on September 13th. It was a farewell in honor of Dave, Fern, Sarah and Louise Campbell, who are leaving their community to live in Ontario. Pastor Shoop presented Dave and Fern with a plaque and the children with a gift from the congregation. Happy Birthday was also sung to Dave for his birthday on Wednesday and the Shoop children presented them with an Annniverssary cake in honor of their 23rd Anniversary, which was Saturday.

On the weekend, Alvin and Win Curtis took a five hour drive to Wildwood to visit Win's son, Arthur Smyth and family. They gave them a tour of the beautiful park at Chip Lake. This lake only has jack fish in it and the deepest part is only approximately five feet.

Debra Lastiwka, formerly from Heinsburg, moved to Turner Valley, where she attended Discipleship Training school. Debra then went on a two month outreach to Mexico. In Mexico she did Bible distribution, work projects, dramas for kids, teens and adults. She will now be working with Youth With A Mission, helping with food service in Turner Valley. Debra was visiting in the area and spoke briefly at the Greenlawn Church on Sunday.

The H I S Group sang at the Pentecostal Church in Vermilion on Sept. 13th. After the service, Winnie Mathison had the whole group over to her house for lunch. On Sunday, September 27th at 11:00 o'clock the H I S Group will be singing at the Elk Point United Church.

Get well wishes to Deidre Rainey who is hospitalized in Vermilion after having surgery in the University Hospital in Edmonton.

Laura Rainey's brother, Lloyd Ross from Terrace, B.C. spent three weeks visiting in the area. One call was to his friend Mrs. Ritt.

Alma Rainey just returned to her home at Camrose after spending a few days with her friend, Lillian Poitras.

The Dewberry school is in full operation with an enrolment of 116 students, says Henry Kozak, who has been Principal here for ten years. In the near future we hope to be hearing news of the proposed modernization of the school. If everything falls into place, this project could be started as early as the summer of 1988. With the school's emphasis this year on community participation in education, parents are encouraged to come into the school and meet the teachers and come into the classroom. All in all it looks like a good year and many activities are planned for the future.

The home room teachers for the 1987/88 year are: Lilian Ewen grades 1 & 2, Sandra Lawson grades 3 & 4, Arnell Hines grades 5 & 6, Loretta Bowman grades 7 & 8, Deb Grey grade 9, Brent Pitts grade 10, Richard Bennett grade 11 and Henry Kozak grade 12. Joyce Larson the former grade 5 & 6 teacher, asked for a transfer to Marwayne school where her husband Gordon has been teaching the past 5 years. Joyce teaches the grade 3 & 4 's there. Alice Jones, the school secretary librarian has a number of special project students.

The three bus contractors and drivers are: Emma Wowk, Donna And Laurie Durnin and Sharon Bates. Sharon had been a casual driver for a number of years and was awarded the D-3 contract, purchasing the late George Wowk's bus.

Some of our young people furthering their education are: Shawn Ewen taking a two year course in Agriculture at the Vermilion Lakeland college, Kimberley Blacklock has taken up residence in Edmonton where she is attending the Alberta College. Trudy Holmen, David Whiteside and Tammy Robinson are attending the University of Alberta. At Camrose Lutheran College, we have Sheri Durnin, Tyrel and Loreli Brock.

Melie Maltais had her cousin, Walter and Gladys Gudwer from Prince George to visit. Both their parents had homesteaded in the Ferguson Flats district in 1911. With Sunday being a beautiful fall day, they packed a picnic lunch and with the help of a County map, found and visited their actual homesites. After this they toured around the north end of Garnier Lake to see all the oil development.

The Dewberry Lions Club are collecting newspaper and cardboard for recycling. There will be a box for same in the East-Alta Co-op parking lot. Please save your papers and tie them in bundles or put them in a cardboard box and place in the container or put them directly into N.E. Jones Tractor Trailer Van which is parked in the north-east corner of the UFA Bulk station.

John Anderson and Neal Jones attended a Lions, Lioness and Leos seminar on education of participants respecting the incidence, treatment and necessity of Family Violence Prevention. Fund raising assignments and information was discussed. There is to be a Lions Christmas Telethon on CBC Television, Dec. 5 & 6, 1987.

On October 3rd, Neal and Elsie Jones will be attending a reception in Calgary for the International President, Judge Brian Stepheson, who is one of our fellow Albertan Lions from Calgary.

The Dewberry Kindergarten started September 9th with an enrolment of twenty children, operating on Wednesdays and Fridays. Judy Zeller from Vermilion is the teacher with Brenda Isert hired as a full time aid.

Deb Grey's niece, Tanya Horne, is up from Vancouver to attend Dewberry School for a year. She is in the grade ten class.

The Sunday service at the Bethesda United Church, on August 30th had a special feature. The United Church Women presented May Braithwaite with a dozen red roses to celebrate her 90th birthday. Cam Hancock led the service and had an inteview with May, regarding her many years in her life working in the Community, in the Church and for the UCW. The UCW invited the congregation to lunch following the service.

Church Service in the Bethesda United Church will be at 9:30 a.m. from now until December 31st. Sunday School is at 10:45 a.m.

We extend sympathy to Mrs. Helen Maltais and family, formerly of Dewberry, on the loss of her father. Charles Francis Molohon, formerly of Marwayne District passed away in Edmonton at the age of 88 years. Mr. Molohon was predeceased by his wife, Mary, May 26, 1985.

Naomi Walker from Hamilton, Ontario, niece of Bill Brocks and Nina Smiths, made her yearly visit to Dewberry. One of the highlights of this trip was visiting the Dewberry Museum. Saturday evening, a going away party was held in her honor in the Senior Citizens Centre.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Helen Mathison who passed away September 3, 1987, in the Vermilion hospital at the age of 73 years.

The Village of Dewberry and area residents are looking forward to having the business, "Northern Veterinary Services" in town and operating out of the former Dewberry Woodworks building., The staff is Dr. Gary Etherington, Dr. Barbara Wilhelm, with Iris Attfield the receptionist. At present painting and renovating are being done. Opening date is tentatively October 1st or sooner.

Petro Canada sponsored the Pitching and Catching clinic held Sept. 1,2,& 3rd at the Lloydminster ball park. Coaches attending from Dewberry were: Brian Fenton, Frances Bates, Dorsey and Marilyn Butz. The six pee-wee players attending the clinic were: pitchers-Cory Bates, Robbie and Jody Butz; catchers-Shannon Illingworth, Shayne Fenton and Marty Butz.

Grace Maddex just returned from a ten day trip. She motored to Sherwood Park and spent two days with her son, Bernard and Ann Marie, before going to west Edmonton to stay with her nephew, Tom Hodgoson and family. Grace is very proud of her great grand daughter, Whitney Patricia, Born August 28, 1987, in the Vermilion Hospital. This is the first girl to be born in the William Maddex family. Congratulations Kevin and Twila!

Congratulations to Debra, daughter of Earl and Joyce Walker and Gordon, son of Zigmund Hegedus, all of Dewberry. Gordon and Debra exchanged marriage vows Saturday September 5, 1987 at Lloydminster. Their attendants were close friends Sheri Durnin and Keith Lumley. A reception followed at the Tropical Inn for the immediate family. On Sunday a surprise potluck supper was held in the Riverton Hall for family and friends in their honor. Debra and Gordon expressed their appreciation to everyone for attending, for the gifts and to the hostesses, Julie Illingworth and Gloria Sikora. The happy couple are making their home on the Hegedus farm north of Dewberry.

Fifth annual NPCA win for Buddy

By Phyllis Ewen

Buddy Bensmiller of Dewberry has been racing in the Northern Professional chuckwagon circuit for the past fourteen years. This year Buddy raced two outfits at most meets, carrying the Dennill's Garage and Linx Oilfield Maintenance tarps. He entered twelve race meets and travelled approximately 5500 miles.

Buddy started his career at the age of twelve years, as an outrider for his father's outift. In 1973, he owned and drove his first outfit and has run every year since.

Some of Buddy's many accomplishments are:

- Capturing first place honors at Cheyenne this year. He previously won the races at Cheyenne three years in a row, 1982, 1983 and 1984. In 1983 he set a track record there, which has since been broken.
- Champion at Calgary Stampede in 1979 where he also set a track record in 1981 (since been broken).
- Champion driver for the Northern Professional Chuckwagon Association, five years in a row, 1983 - 1987.
- Won the North American Championship held at High River in 1985.

This year, 1987, besides winning at Cheyenne, Buddy also won Vermilion and Kehewin race meets. At both Vermilion and the Dewberry races, he had the fastest track time.

Congratulations on another successful year, Buddy. Dewberry and district are proud of you.
